FOAMed is becoming an increasingly significant part of the EM's community educational practice. This day is designed to familiarise attendees with FOAMed's educational ethos, and introduce them to the technical skills you need to know in order to produce your own FOAMed resources. Morning speakers will represent the RCEMLearning and St Emlyn's FOAMed sites.

Learning outcomes:

By the end of the day it is anticipated attendees will:

- Have an enhanced understanding of FOAM's educational philosophy and what it's trying to achieve
- Better understand how FOAM can enhance your goals in EM, and realize what it can't do
- Know what style of FOAM suits you, and what delivery best fits your personality, skill set and timescales
- Know how to produce FOAM materials (no prior knowledge is assumed here)
- Create your own FOAM resource to take away with you
- Know how to get involved.

Curriculum Codes: CC23: Teaching & training

Pre-workshop survey: A link to the survey will be emailed to you when you register. It will be completely anonymous but it will help us appropriately frame the day.

Please note the following about the day:

- We're not assuming any prior educational or technical knowledge about FOAMed; the second half of the day will be very hands on with the hope that you leave the day more informed about FOAMed.
- There will be a bias towards Mac and Apple operating systems on the day, as that's what the majority of the speakers and editors use to produce their FOAMed.
